EVERYONE WINS

At our annual Embracing Hope event, we asked people to thumb wrestle with their neighbor. That may seem like an odd request for a ballroom of 450 people, but there was a point to the activity. We told the crowd that at the end of one minute, whoever had the most “pins” of the other person’s thumb would “win.” You can imagine what happened when the timer started. There was laughter. There was struggle. There was fierce competition to be “the winner.” When the minute was over, we asked people how they did. A few said they beat their partner with three or four pins. Some said nobody had any pins. And then there was the point of the activity. One pair said they BOTH WON, and each had fifteen pins. Ponder that. The game was described as a competition and it was assumed that there would be one winner and one loser among each pair. However, for those who thought creatively, they realized that it was possible for everyone to win. They just had to agree to that from the start.

At Broomfield FISH, we want everyone to win. We want everyone to win by having enough food, enough safe shelter, enough access to education, transportation, and health care, and enough of everything they need to meet their basic human needs. We believe this is possible if we come together as neighbors helping neighbors! The last year was challenging for many reasons, but ultimately FISH is proud of helping more than one in five residents, over half of whom were children. We could not have done that without the support of everyone in the community coming together so we could all WIN!

With deepest gratitude,

Dayna Scott, Executive Director and Stephanie Planchard, Board Chair

Broomfield FISH's mission is to meet our neighbors' basic human needs and provide them with the hope and tools to rise out of poverty.

HERE'S HOW WE HELP PEOPLE

PREVENTING HUNGER

Food and nutrition security are essential to mental and physical health; however, many people in our community go hungry or do not have enough food to meet their nutritional needs. FISH helps low-income neighbors have access to the fresh, healthy food options they need to thrive. We have a cost-free, self-shop marketplace where participants can select food for their households with dignity and respect. We also support a mobile pantry with Community Food Share and harvest fresh produce from our teaching garden. In FY2024, FISH distributed 1,539,875 pounds of food to neighbors in need.

STABILIZING HOUSING

Lack of affordable housing is the number one driver of need in our community. On average, FISH participants report spending 75% or more of their monthly income on housing costs, leaving little for other necessities. Through our housing programs, we seek to stabilize residents in existing housing to prevent homelessness. In FY2024, FISH provided housing stability to 630 Broomfield residents. We also worked with the City and County of Broomfield, Almost Home, Broomfield Housing Alliance, the Refuge, faith based groups, and other nonprofits to start the Broomfield Housing Solutions Forum and find sustainable options to solve our housing crisis.

SUPPORTING ECONOMIC SUCCESS

FISH offers emergency financial assistance, resource navigation, and family development programs that provide neighbors with the support needed to achieve whole-family success. As a Family Resource Center, we foster the health of our community by focusing on strength-based ways to help residents achieve economic success. We partner with more than 30 other organizations to offer services such as access to healthcare, mental health and early childhood care, employment and workforce support, public benefits navigation, and money management. Our Advocates also work one-on-one with participants to set stability goals.

COLLABORATION IS OUR SUPERPOWER

Our vital community partnerships allow us to provide wrap-around support to families so that they can navigate the resources needed to achieve stability and economic success. Collaboration is one of FISH's central values, and we provide warm hand-offs to a variety of partner organizations so that families can easily access the highest quality of support possible.

FISH'S NEW COMMUNITY GARDEN

In 2024, FISH celebrated the grand opening of our new community teaching garden behind our building! This feat was made possible with grant support from the Colorado Garden Foundation, the tireless efforts of our garden leadership committee, and our partnership with Lost Rock Farm. Our community garden brings neighbors together to learn more about locally grown food, acquire new gardening skills, and grow fresh produce so FISH families can make healthy meals. We kicked off the season with a ribbon-cutting ceremony, co-hosted by the Broomfield Area Chamber. Throughout the summer, volunteers kept our garden watered and ensured that all of the harvested produce went directly to our marketplace for our participants to enjoy. We were also able to host three learning events over the summer - a workshop on how to grow food from kitchen scraps, a native pollinator journal workshop in collaboration with Invent HQ, and a garden-to-table cooking demonstration!

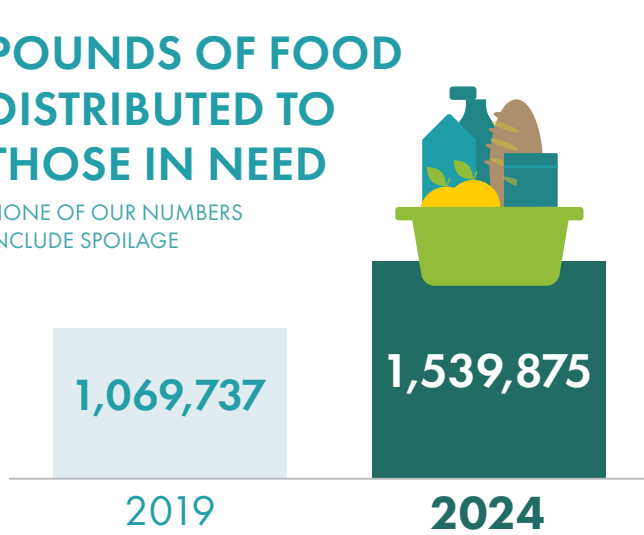

In the fall, we formed a new partnership with The Salvation Army of Broomfield to expand the garden. We harvested kale, onions, broccoli, herbs, and more from their space to bring to our marketplace. Moving forward, they will be dedicating all of their raised beds to growing food for neighbors in need and we will work together on planting and harvesting at both sites.

KRISTI'S STORY OF STRENGTH

I remember the first time I walked into FISH, and there were a couple of lovely ladies behind the desk. I'm pretty resourceful, but they could see that we needed help. Our bills were stacking up. We had a hard time getting gas money to get people to appointments, doctor's appointments especially, or to work.

I have never gone without food because of FISH, which is absolutely amazing. We would have been without food many times over the last four years alone. FISH also helped me become knowledgeable about the Workforce Center, and I was able to get jobs that paid the bills.

People are so wonderful at FISH. I can't begin to tell you the true help FISH has given us, honestly. Sometimes it's just knowing that I can come here. No one's going to judge me. No one's going to say, "Oh here she comes again, asking for a handout." Everyone's just always been very kind. It's nice to be acknowledged as a person, and it's in no way fake.

I think it's hard for people to understand how long poverty actually lasts. Even when you get a leg up, something unexpected happens. My mother-in-law breaks her hip, then my husband gets cancer, and my daughter turns 15 - life is life. I've never felt like I was ever judged at FISH. People at FISH care. They know my story, they know my name. That means a lot.

Better is possible. I've had really bad days lately, just holding on. Coming in here, I know that I'm gonna get what I need for my family. I don't think I've ever asked a question that wasn't at least passed on to someone else who could maybe help in that situation.

I wish that people understood how donations impact lives. It gets me to appointments, it gets my daughter to school. If everyone can realize that we are all in need in one way or another... If you can help, you're gonna feel great and you're gonna help somebody else out that needs it.

"I have a lovely family: my mother-in-law, my father-in-law, my beautiful daughter who just turned 15, my husband. We have a roommate, as well. He went through some hardships. It's a lot of mouths to feed."

RESEARCH SHOWS THAT FAMILIES WHO PARTICIPATE IN FAMILY RESOURCE CENTER PROGRAMS DEMONSTRATE IMPROVEMENTS IN ECONOMIC SECURITY, RESILIENCY, AND HEALTH.

"A family resource center brings together services and activities that educate, develop skills, and promote moving in new directions for families. This increases the capacity of families to be healthy, involved members of dynamic communities."

AFFORDABLE HOUSING: THE MOST CRITICAL NEED

At FISH, we see the effects of the housing crisis every day in the lives of our neighbors in need who come to us for help. The housing crisis is truly an emergency—like a flood or a fire—with desperate families on the brink of eviction, or worse, already living in their cars or on the streets because of the lack of affordable units and rising costs of rent. FISH is part of a collaborative group of partners—Broomfield Housing Alliance, the City and County, other local nonprofits, and local churches and faith-based organizations—working on housing solutions for the future.

Eviction rates are skyrocketing and exacerbating an already devastating homelessness problem.

HOURLY WAGE TO BE SELF-SUFFICIENT BY FAMILY TYPE IN BROOMFIELD

Keith was planning to retire, but an unexpected eviction caused him to become unhoused. He first learned about FISH through a Broomfield City Council meeting, and found that once he was able to access our assistance programs and work with partner agencies like the Workforce Center, new doors started opening up for him. He now has stable housing through our Keeping Seniors Housed program, and continues to actively participate in Broomfield Housing Alliance meetings as a way of making a difference for our Broomfield community.

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT SQUAD

In 2024, FISH launched our new Youth Engagement Squad (YES for short) made up of dedicated 8th through 12th grade students who live or go to school in Broomfield and have an interest in serving their community. Our YES members spent the year learning more about food and housing insecurity while planning individual service projects to support our mission.

YES!

"I wanted to join YES to be a part of a fun, compassionate, diverse group of people!"

KIANA WAGEMAN

"When looking at Broomfield from an outside perspective, it is easy to stereotype our community as a privileged area. While many people do have the necessities of life, there are many people who don't. Broomfield FISH provided me with the confidence, resources, and skills I needed to get more involved in my community." - Kiana, YES Member. Check out this story in the Broomfield Enterprise to learn about how Kiana coordinated a group of over 150 people to build and donate 80 care packages to our partner organization, the Refuge.

LILY HYSER

"I believe that the ability to read and access literary resources is a human right; however, many children don't have direct access to these resources—an issue that requires attention. In July, I organized the 'Bright Futures Book Drive' to collect books for all ages. In total, we collected a little under 1,700 individual books! After organizing all of the books by age group, we brought them to Broomfield FISH. There, we built a dedicated bookshelf for children to browse and choose books from to take home when they come on family grocery trips. This experience has taught me a powerful lesson: kindness can be found everywhere, for any cause, as long as you're willing to look for it."

"I joined YES because I want to make a positive, lasting impact on my community."

"I joined YES to help find more ways to help people on a bigger scale."

In July of 2024, FISH collaborated with the Broomfield Early Childhood Council to organize the Broomfield Big Play Date. This family fun event included 25 partner organizations and businesses who provided resources and activities for more than 350 neighbors. Held next to the Depot Museum, the event offered laughter, outdoor activities, and connections to community and vital resources.

When Dana Clouse and Tyson Cogley, the owners of Doc Automotive, learned that our cooking oil shelf was empty, they came up with a creative way to partner with FISH and engage their clients! They joined our Adopt A Shelf program and started a promotion at their shop to give a discount on services when customers brought in cooking oil to donate. They drop off bottles to our marketplace every week to keep our shelf stocked for families. Dana and Tyson also started an annual chili cook-off fundraiser, which brings businesses and community members together to raise funds and food for FISH!

After reading The Highlights Book of Things To Do, Tessa and her brother JJ had the idea to hold a carnival in their family's backyard to raise funds for local organizations! Together, they drew up a map of what the carnival could look like and hand-delivered invitations to neighbors and friends. They had 25 kids between the ages of 4 and 12 come and enjoy face painting, ring toss, an obstacle course, a craft table, lemonade, and cookies. During the event, Tessa and JJ collected donations and were able to raise an amazing $300, which they split between FISH and Children's Hospital!
